Welcome!

Thank you for attending the first annual KWLA World Language Showcase. We are so glad you have chosen to spend your Saturday with us, and we look forward to seeing what you can do with language!

This event was made possible by the tireless dedication of many individuals working together to promote world language proficiency and encourage "real world relevancy" in our classrooms.

Although it is impossible to list every name here, we want to especially thank the following visionaries for their inspiration and guidance throughout this process. Without them, there would be no showcase.

- Susann Davis, Western Kentucky University
- Thomas Sauer, Jefferson County Public Schools

You'll find QR codes scattered around campus. Scan them to see cultural images from our target cultures. To play, find and correctly identify all the images. Pick up an answer sheet at Registration.

Speaking Challenge

All students – including Latin – are encouraged to use the target language as much as possible. Introduce yourself! Ask for directions! Make small talk!

If you are caught speaking the target language by one of our volunteers in between events, you will receive a raffle ticket. The more often you speak out, the more likely you are to get caught, and the more chances you have to win!

Prizes include international treats, gift cards, and a Kindle Fire!
